

SoundTracks to Life:

Opening September 5th, 2009
6-9 PM

Soundwaves do come in colors.

A visual journey through the music inspiring the background of daily living. Music has the ability to recall specific days and moments from our storybooks. The artists in this show seek to give life to our auditory memories and inspire through sculpture, paint, and digital photograph. Listen to the soundtracks that gave this art its beginning and enjoy the show!
